DIGITAL SOLUTIONS & OPERATIONAL ANALYTICS

ORA Cockpit - Retail Operations Intelligence Platform | Project Lead & Solution Builder

- Identified fragmented PDF and Excel reporting as a multi-branch decision-making gap and led the end-to-end design and iterative build of ORA Cockpit, translating field requirements into a working retail management platform.
- Created the SQL database and a custom Excel master-data mapping layer from scratch to align D365 employee, branch, product, and ownership identifiers before transforming structured records into frontend-ready JSON.
- Built an automated workflow in which employee, branch, product, and operational datasets are synchronised to GitHub every 15 minutes and consumed by the React frontend.
- Implemented a separate live-sales workflow using Dynamics 365 OAuth/OData, Vercel Serverless Functions, and direct frontend consumption for live and hourly sales views.
- Defined and implemented business logic covering sales, visitors, transactions, conversion, ATV, targets, branch rankings, Hijri/Gregorian LFL comparisons, Employee 360, target allocation, stock, product mix, market-basket analysis, and missed opportunities.
- Delivered bilingual role-based operational views, KPI alerts, PWA access, PDF/Excel exports, data caching and fallback handling, and deployment workflows across GitHub Actions, GitHub Pages, and Vercel.

Additional Applied Product Prototypes

- Bayani: Developed an Arabic personal-finance prototype covering transactions, accounts, cards, debts, budgeting, Firebase data storage, visual analytics, and Gemini-assisted transaction interpretation.
- Ramadan Shift Planner: Built a multi-branch staffing tool covering cross-midnight shifts, hourly coverage, editable shift templates, local data persistence, and PDF schedule exports.
- K.A Cockpit: Developed an earlier retail-performance prototype using Firebase Authentication, Firestore, role-based workflows, Employee 360 views, and Gemini-assisted analysis.

Development Approach: AI-assisted development used to accelerate technical learning, prototyping, troubleshooting, and implementation while retaining ownership of requirements, business logic, data mapping, validation, and operational application.
